CASE STUDY (FileCatalyst)

Solaris Promo Production

Profile

Solaris Promo Production is famously tied to the popular Russian reality television show, Dom 2. In the show, the contestants' main objective is to construct a house while simultaneously trying to find a partner in the process. Couples then compete for the house itself. Solaris Promo Production additionally works with acclaimed cinema and television producers, top global chefs, and on project implementation both in Russia and abroad.

Challenge

Originally Dom 2 was filmed within the region of Moscow, but once the show's popularity grew the filming was relocated to Seychelles, a small and remote country within East Africa. This created a timing and efficiency issue. It became evident that a fast file transfer solution was now a necessity for production to be successful.

Solution

To transfer Solaris Promo Production's media files at an accelerated speed, FileCatalyst's channel partner MM Communications matched Solaris Promo Production's with FileCatalyst Direct and the client application, Express.

FileCatalyst Direct provides the ability to drive point to point accelerated file transfers at speeds of up to 10 Gbps for even the largest files.

"Our production is always on the go, we are doing the reality show and need to gather the new materials in time. FileCatalyst has given us a reliable solution to our daily tasks and is an integral part of our production workflow."

~ Aleksey Maksimishin,
Head of the IT department at Solaris Promo Production
